Abstract:

Teacher from the nucleus of any system of education As an expert in the field, a teacher is a person who transfers the learning content and information to students. As required by this role, the teacher, the source of information in class, is active, while students demonstrate passive behaviours mostly as those who receive the information provided. Teachers motivate their students in accordance with the learning and development goals and with the results they have obtained; help students gain self-confidence; reinforce and award students' appropriate behaviours; assign students duties and responsibilities to help them become successful; and provide the necessary support in the process via clues, feedback and corrections The behaviours least demonstrated by the teachers were those related to the role of supporting the students and those related to being a model for them.

KEY WORDS: Ideal,Teacher

Introduction: An ideal teacher is a proficient and empathetic instructor who possesses a unique combination of competencies, characteristics, and attributes that set them apart in their field. These individuals are committed experts who endeavor to establish a nurturing, comprehensive, and engaging educational setting that promotes scholastic achievement, personal development, and societal accountability.

Exemplary teachers are enthusiastic about imparting knowledge and acquiring new insights, and they consistently strive to enhance their methods through continual professional growth, introspection, and cooperation with peers. They have the ability to spark inspiration and encouragement in their students, establish strong connections with them, and adjust their instructional strategies to cater to the varied requirements of their pupils.

Teacher as nation builder: The teacher is considered as the architect of a nation .he is concerned with the man making process the future nation depend upon the type of citizens trained and educated today in the schools the responsibility of building the nation rests upon the teacher.

Teacher's role

Teacher is the pivot of any education system of the younger students. The teacher is the dynamic force of the school .he is the yardstick that measures the achievement and aspirations of the nation The worth and potentialities of a country are the enlarged replica of the teacher

Teacher 's role in education is multi-dimensional. They can act as trail-blazer in the lives of learner's and in the process of education for development .If teachers acquire professional competencies and commitments and if they are, enable and empowered to perform their multiple tasks in the classrooms well as in the school and community , in a genuinely professional manner ,than a chain reaction can begin. Starting with a sound teacher performance and culminating into high quality learning among increasingly more students in cognitive , affective and psychomotor areas of human development .

Making aware of their rights and duties: The students of today are the citizens of tomorrow They have to face the challenge of adjustment in the society. It is a matter of fact that, only he will adjust and survive in the society who can understand their rights and discharge their duties properly teachers can help their students to understand their rights and discharge their duties

Developing good ideals: moral degradation is a vital issues of modern society, it leads to the non adjustment of the new generation with that of the old one. teacher can provide the students with moral ideals and help to adjust with the challenging society. Teacher as classroom manager: classroom management and discipline are two important responsibilities of a teacher. However, classroom discipline and management causes the most fear and consternation in new teachers .success in teaching depends largely on classroom management .for effective teaching classroom management is necessary.

Professional qualities:

A good teacher should have the following professional qualities

Developing and delivering educational content and resources

Conclusion

An ideal teacher is a professional with passion, empathy, and knowledge who can establish a welcoming and inclusive learning environment is the perfect teacher. They set high standards, communicate clearly, and adjust to a range of requirements, encouraging pupils to realize their greatest potential. Ideal educators innovate and enhance their approaches because they are dedicated to lifelong learning and reflective practice, which promotes positive development and a love of learning. By exhibiting these traits, they turn into mentors and role models who have a profound influence on the lives of their students and who devotedly, wisely, and compassionately shape the future. teachers play a crucial role. More educators who are genuinely dedicated to their work need to be employed in schools. Educators must also possess the willingness to own up to their mistakes and improve. They ought to be inspired to go deeper into their subject. Two essential elements of teaching are taking students' input and reflecting on oneself. Any teacher can become a flawless educator who has a profound impact on thousands of people worldwide by continuously developing their skills. In India, Teacher's Day is observed annually on September 5, the day of Dr. Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan's birth, to honor the work of educators.
