1.1 Introduction

The short story book "Ombisini Fung" (The Last Night Morning) is important. This is because the stories are about rural and urban life. Urkhaogwra Brahma has published this book in 2001. There are thirteen stories in this book. The stories are- (1) Lokhra (Leopard) (2) Felengni Ishadi (Evil of Failure) (3) Swngra Swimayabw (Even the Dog Asking) (4) Nari Muktni Bar (The Bar of Female Liberation) (5) Nari Muktni Bar (Dead Letter) (6) Aabou Bonda Horao (Grandpa Banda Harao) (7) Impression (Impression) (8) Nagwbwjnai Fwisali (Naked Stage) (9) Ombasini Fung (The Last Night Morning) (10) Jwsa Maibra (Josa Maibra) (11) Jwbtha Khuli (Last Place) (12) Moralitini Hathayao (Morality Market) and (13) Amai Hainari (Amai Hainari). His storytelling has been characterized by news media, with people from rural and urban backgrounds taking the lead in the story. It is here to discuss the short story in the realty market.

1.2 Aim and Objectives

The following are the objectives of the discussion.

1. Politics is being discussed.
2. Economics is discussed.
3. The education sector is being discussed.
4. The morality of personality is discussed.

1.3 Method and Data Collection

The analytical method is used to negotiate in this meeting. Where the opportunity to analyse this method has been made available. Therefore, the method of analysis is used. The collection of information is supported by the main text as the basic information and the discussion book as the sub-information.

1.4 Importance

The key to this meeting is to get a variety of people through human stores. It must be communicated to the public.

2.1 Description

The story is about two thousand kilometers from Jalapha Dewani to the west and three hundred kilometers. There is a market for morality in the east near jalapa's home. The man named Jalapha is good. A person who travels abroad. In the region it is said to be the best word for English. Hence Jalapha Dewani has been considered the man in this region. He is able to speak English, he is also believed to be a human being. While talking to Jaalapha, Derhasat goes on to say that if you do not believe the words of a person like Jalapha Dewani then you will be called Jamba. Meanwhile Jalapha Devani says to the winner.

"You have distrusted the next thing. But in the morality market is there anyone else in these two places?"

Jalapha Devani says only about himself and he sees these two teeth himself. But you don't know, if anyone else knows it. He said something he saw. The winner has repeated about Dewani after he has been hearing who has not heard the market for morality.

"I've heard so many market names, but I don't know how many markets I can tell. Hence, what is the end of today's science?"

The usual nursery is to continue gather at the front of the audience to watch the scenes. It is very interesting. This is not a scene of true events. It has a modern reality drama scene from the Star Alongbar Theatre Association.

2.2 Language

The impact of various mixed-language morality on the morality market can be seen through short stories such as:

"Listen, listen, come, come, come on, this is the market of morality. Hindi is morality, Assamese morality, Bengali morality, this is English morality. It offers all kinds of morality. "

This led to a mixture of political discourse, business, education, and humanitarianism in different languages. It has been shown that if it is not understood in one language, it can be understood in another language.

2.3 Politics

In this story, the morality and influence of politics are revealed to the public by a man with a beard coming forward from the theatre.

"What morality do you need from the states? Politics ? Then you will have to purchase the trick of fraud, pretending to be a liar. You also need to make your sleep experience a reality. Because this is the morality of politics. "

Through this, it was revealed that those who were able to use the tactics of politics by participating in politics. The political leaders who attract the attention of the people and lead the way in the political arena. While it has been found that he was able to take advantage of the politics by telling people that lies, lies, and lies, he has been able to take advantage of politics. This is because it is the morality of politicians.

2.4 Business (Economics)

In this novel, the moral impact of the business is revealed to the public by a man with a beard coming forward from the theatre and saying:

"What morality do you need from the states? Business ? Then in any work, the officer or the minister, the MLA. We need to use the method of percentage distribution. Instead of adding a little water to the milk, one has to learn the technique of adding a little milk to the water. It is important to know how to get the signatures of four officers by making fake bills and how to get a proper report of the construction of a bridge over the hill. The morality of the business to puzzle"

Through this context, you have learnt the tricks of doing business. It has been observed that traders enter the business arena using such tactics.

2.5 Education

In this story, the moral impact of education is revealed to the public by a man with a beard coming forward from the theatre and telling him in public.

"What morality do you need from the states ? Is it about education now don't be afraid of anything Buy the copy signature only. Only then can you make a certificate of a non-military degree. Because you have to work hard to get a copy of the nine-gu-ga-ga copy. In fact, today's books are far from those written by ancient people. They don't write about what is going on in today's world. And if you're just about to pass the exam and earn a good education, take advantage of how to get your parents, brothers, sisters, and even your teachers to follow suit from this market. This is where the originality of modern education is found. ”

This was evident from the fact that even a degree certificate of education is easily obtained through the use of tricks.

2.6 Personality Morality

In this story, the morality of the personality is revealed to the public by a man with a beard coming forward from the theatre and saying:

"What morality do you need from the states? And is it easy for personality. This is because its morality is in the mouth. Do you know the "great sin of killing a living"? The "great sin of suicide" is "not to be considered a curse of others". On the contrary, do not say bad things about Mahatma Gandhi, but "do not listen to bad things". It's over now this market is their market. I am the merchant land of morality: ha: ha: ha:.....

It has been found that the morality of the personality is reflected in the fact that it is possible to visualize a person through verbal expressions.

3.0 Conclusion

The influence of different languages has been seen through discussions on this issue. There have been reports of politicians speaking in different languages, such as the use of business, education in various languages, and the availability of human experience. The Morality of Politics describes the ways and means of convenience in the political arena. The professionalism of the business has been shown to be able to reap the benefits of the business through the use of strategy, strategy. The originality of education has been shown to be the result of easy access to certificates of learning and the ability to obtain a degree quickly, and personality traits have been shown to appeal to people by saying great things out loud in their mouths. All these types of morality have been found in the realty market under the name Sale. This indicates that the morality that one needs is reported to be in its own way by choosing it on its own.
